Giving at SEESA

Every day, SEESA seeks to empower and enhance the quality of life of people in our community. Our donors help others through clubs and classes, friendships and fellowship, special events, and physical activities. However, not everyone in our community feels safe and secure. Many people feel alone or marginalized, and their mental health, physical well-being and resiliency can be better. With your donation, SEESA can grow.

Your help supports community building and healthy living. TOGETHER, we will reach our vision of being a vibrant, compassionate, and inclusive place to grow up and grow older. To make a gift, please go to www.seesa.ca, and click “Join/Donate” or stop by the Front Desk. Thank you – from the bottom of our hearts. We accept cash, cheque, debit, Visa, Mastercard and wallet credits.

If you, or someone you know, is interested in purchasing a membership in SEESA activities but may not have all the funds to benefit from a membership, please contact Aleeza directly at 780-468-1985 ext. 223 for a confidential conversation to see how SEESA can help.

FYI: Is it Dementia or is it Old Age?

This is a common question we ask when we notice our family members, or ourselves, doing things that we think are signs of aging, or should we be worried that this is more serious? Some things are indicators of a more serious problem and will be presented. Lee Cardwell has lived experience with dealing with her mother's Alzheimer's and her husband's vascular dementia. She has served on the Edmonton Family and Client Advisory Committee for AHS, is a member of the Older Adult Advisory Council for the Federal Canadian Institute of Health Research, and is a member of the Transitioning Research into Elder Care Committee and a founding member of the Early Onset Dementia Alberta Foundation. Learn About Pole Walking

Have you ever wondered why you see people walking with poles? What are the benefits of using poles? How much do they cost? What to look for in a good walking pole? Am I using my poles correctly? Do I have them set to the proper height? Can I use them year round? What is the difference between using them for stability, and for fitness?

All your questions will be answered in this workshop! There will be two sets of demonstration poles provided to try. If you have your own poles, it is recommended that you bring them so the instructor can tell you about the style you have. If you haven't bought any yet, it is recommended to wait until you learn about the different options at the workshop.

Philosophers Café: "Star Spangled Christians": Evangelicals in Age of Extremism

It is odd, troubling, and perhaps terrifying. How has it come about that the evangelical communities in the United States as well as Canada have been reconfigured? How has it come about that many who once rooted their faith in the Gospels and its call to "serve the Prince of Peace" and the kingdom in which "there is no slave nor free, no male or female, not Jew or Gentile" now read the scripture through the lens of fear and 'Christian nationalism' and see a political leader as the servant of God on a crusade to "save Christianity?"

Barre Fitness

Barre fitness is a total body workout with elements of Pilates, dance and strength training. Barre focuses on high reps of small range movements. But the real difference between barre and other workouts are the isometric movements you usually perform - holding your body still while you contract specific muscles, until you shake and feel the burn. Using your own body, small weights and/or a resistance band can help build lean muscle, balance, good posture and better core strength.
